THE CREUT System .- The terrible financial disasters, which have recently shaken the whole commercial world from center to circumference, may in great part be attributed to the extravagantly extended credit system which has prevailed in every branch of trade and industry. It had outgrown every semblance of necessity and produced an inflation of the currency and a recklessness in speculation, which resulted in the crisis that prostrated business of all kinds, forced the banks into a suspension of specie payment, silenced the busy hum of industry in our manufacturing establishments, drove merchants and traders into insolvency, and spread desolation and distress over a laud smiling with peace and plenty. It has been argued that credit in commerce and manufactures is, like government in politics, a necessary evil, but it is an evil that must be liniel or it becomes a curse to the people by whom it is tolerated. Too much government is as fatal to the rights and liberties of a nation as too much credit is to its manufacturing and commercial interests. When distended beyond its proper dimensions it must burst sooner or later, and such an event is always attended with serious disaster to communities and individuals.

The evils of the enormous extension of the credit system in this country have been made apparent by infant, left at the door of the P. E. Orphan Asylum the sad results lately experienced. This extension of credit pervaded all the ramifications of trade and society, until it reached the actual consumer. One consequence was a largely increased cost to consumers commensurate with the a cumulation of interest and the risk of loss in all the various branches of business through which the articles were required to pass from the manufacturer to the consumer. The wholesale merchant, the city jobber, and the country retailer must all receive a lditional profits to compensate for the interest and the rick of losses.

The augmented cost is not however the greatest evil of the system. By this inflation of credit a spirit of wild and reckless speculation is begotten in all classes of society until some of the mammoth schemes fail, some South Sea bubble bursts, and a rogatories addressed to him in regard to the legality general crash ensues, by which the innocent as well as the guilty are involved in irretrievable ruin. pelling holders of notes to present them one by one Distrust then takes the place of confidence, credit everywhere is destroyed, prices, like the oscillations no right to make such a demand, and expresses the of a pendulum, swing nearly as far back as they had previously gone forward, and property of all kinds is estimated far below its real value. The shock of such a disaster affects most seriously those who are least able to resist its crushing force and who have contributed least to create the fearful explosion. All classes of society from the common day laborer to the princely manufacturer suffer alike, and guant poverty, with all its attendant ills, stalks grimly over the land teeming with wealth and

The financial panic which lately swept over our country has induced many of those who are engaged in business to propose a reformation of the credit system. A movement has begun among the Eastern merchants and manufacturers to curtail their credits. They have generally agreed to fix six months as the maximum time to be allowed to purchasers. This is a step in the right direction. It is an approximation to a sound and healthy system. and, if not abused as it has heretofore been, it will produce great good to the country at large. At another time any attempt at such a reformation would necessarily of itself produce a monetary crisis, but now it may be done with propriety and aufety. The reaction in business matters will ad- the 3d inst. passed a bill authorizing the importation mit of returning to a healthy tone and true basis, of 2,500 negroes, to be indentured for fifteen years.

which can be easily maintained if proper caution and prudence and firmness should be exercised. The proposed reformation deserves to be approved and generally adopted. We hope it will be done and that we shall not soon again witness a riotous excess of credit such as immediately preceded and in no small degree contributed to the recent fearful

MINNESOTA -This State or Territory is in an extremely complex position, as regards her Federal relations. Nor do the perplexities of her position relate to the Central Government alone. They extend as well to several of the most prominent and important of her domestic affairs. One of these is the question of lending the State credit to the promotion of internal improvements.

The agitation for the law suthorizing the loan of the State credit to the amount of five millions of dollars to the railroad companies in possession of the Congressional grant of land, says the Chicago Tribune, is extending over the Territory, and many public meetings of the people have been called to condemn or approve the measure. There is a good degree of unanimity in favor of the bill, and we are of the opinion that it will become a law, though it may well be doubted whether the bonds, when issued, can be negotiated in any of the money markets of the world. Minnesota is in an anomalous position. She has a Legislature elected in accordance with her State Constitution, which, until she is admitted into the Union, has no force whatever; while at the same time the laws passed by that Legislature are approved by a Territorial Executive, a creature of the President, who has no more to do with the affairs of the State than any other citizen thereof. Such being the case, capitalists would look twice at their money before trading it off for bonds made by two departments of a government which stand in such relation to each other that if the act of one is proved to be valid, the existence of the other is at once destroyed. In other words, charged anextra price.

The bonds, if any are authorized, would be hybrids, producing nothing.

As respects the measure in hand, it is, however, fortunate for Minnesota that this state of things exists. It will save her from eventual hishonor, and her people from endless taxation, both of which lie behind this speculators' project now agitated in every corner of the Territory.

Luther somewhere compares human nature to a drunken man on horseback." Accepting this comparison as a tolerably just one, human nature, we think, has got on its "highest horse" in the 'revivals' now so rampant in the East.

We scarcely marvel that the sober Churchman, amazed and scandalized at these extravagant demonstrations of the religious seutiment, offers up this noble prayer of the liturgy in behalf of the reeling enthusiasts:

Almishty God, who showest them that are in error the light of thy fruth, to the furest that they may return but the way of righteousness; grant units all those who are admitted into the tellowship of christ's religion that they may avoid those things to a courtary to their profession, and follow all such things as are agreeable to the same; through our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

When it is remembered that a corresponding reaction follows all violent and unrestrained action, this raging furor of piety may well become a subject of anxious regret to every thoughtful Christian.

The peculiar duties of this office appertain to the civil business of the city in the courts, being suits for the city or defending those brought against her in the ceurts of common law and equity. It is an office of great importance and responsibility, and the Council has done admirably well in securing the services of Mr. Stout, who is in every respect qualified for the office and will discharge the duties with fidelity, promptness, and ability.

Mr. Cobb decides that a bank has opinion that the courts in the country will sustain him. In support of his views he cites a decision of Judge Storey.

Senator Hammond, of South Carolina, remarked in the course of his speech in the Senate the other day that it was "hardly paradoxical to say that constitutions, being made for the minority, should also be made by the minority." We agree with Senator Hammond that his remark is "hardly paradoxical," for, though absurd enough in appearance, it is equally absurd in fact. It is, however, a very proper argument in behalf of the Lecompton consti-

For Memphis - The swift and elegant steamer Alvia Adams reached port last evening with ber cabins crowded with passengers. This steamer has established a high reputation in the Memphis trade, but it is not alone owing to her excellent qualities but much is due to her chief officers, Capt. Lamb and Mr. E. T. Halliday. [From the Council Bluff Bugle, March 3.] VERY LATE AND IMPORTANT NEWS FROM UTAID.

Mr. Wing ste has just arrived in this city, en route for Chicago and other Eastern cities, and only 31 days from Salt Lake City. He reports no snow in Salt Lake Valley at the time he left, and but little snow in the mountains. He came by a route known only to the Mormons and mountaineers, by which horsemen in single file can pass the army without being discovered. This route passes between a range of perpendicular rocks for 13 miles, and in many places is not over three feet wide and is completely vered over with a rock roof. The Mormons are making great preparations for efending all the passes to the Valley and are manufacturing small cannon and percussion locks, and telescope sights. These cannon carry a two round ball, and from their peculiar construction will do execution at a distance of a mile and a half, with as much certainty as our common rifles will at an hur-dred and twenty yards.

They also have a manufactory of revolvers where five hundred are turned out per week.

They are also manufacturing a coarse powder, which they calculate to use in the construction of mines, by which they expect to be able to blow up a train without running any risk themselves. The Mormons and some of the picket guards of Col. Johnson's command have had a skirmish, in which the Mormons lost two killed and five wounded.

[For the Louisville Journal.] STATISTICS OF SALT.

Last summer, Mr. Samuel Hotaling, a very intel ligent dealer in salt, of long standing in the city of New York, published in the papers of that city statistics of the salt trade in the United States, make up for the use of a committee of the British Parinment, from which I extract the following provincent

"The amount of course and fine salt imported into the United States from foreign countries for the year ending June 30, 1856, was 15,405,864 bushels."

So far, Mr. Hotaling.

Taking the data of Mr. Ilotaling as nearly correct in regard to the production and imports of salt, and putting the consumption at 50 pounds per soul, is as see how the supply and demand will stand:

Imports for the year ending July, 18 bushels	856,
Domestic products	12,376,000
Bushels	27,781,864
Population in 1850. Add 31/2 per cent, annually for 6 years for increase of population	ears

Deficit, bushels, 1,092,017 The falling off in domestic production for 1857 was equal to 2,000,000 bushels, of which 1,700,000 bushels are reported from the New York works alone.

It is evident from the foregoing result that fifty pounds to the soul is an excessive calculation fir the whole population; but it is undoubtedly nearly true for the West.

Let us see the relation of supply and demand for the Mississippi valley. The census of 1850 shows

TELEGRAPHIC ABSTRACT OF THE MAJORITY REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE ON KANSAS AFFAIRS.

Washington, March 10.

Washington, March 16.

Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, made a report expressive of the views of the majority of the Kansas committee. It commences by saying that the subject matter, to which attailed should be directed, was, first, the law for taking the consus of the people. 2c, the law calling the convention. 3d, the registry of the voters and the apportionment under it. 4th, the assembling of the convention and its journal. 5th, the constitution so made. 6th, the official vote on the ratification of the subject submitted. 7th, the committee filed, not decuring it mateted. 7th, the committee filed, not deeming it material. The set of December last providing for a vote for or against the slavery clause on the 4th of January. 8th, the efficial announcement of that vote, and 9th, the written statement of General Cochran in relation to the registry of votes, &c., but which sheds no light on the subject. The report says that these facts show great regularity and strict conformity to law, and that no State heretofore applying for admission has shown a clearer record. No objection to the admission of Kensas arises of the senal integrings. Thirdly, whether the constitution is republican in form.

The report then answers the objections, going very fully into a reply to Governor Walker's argument founded on his assumption that the validity of every Stale constitution depends upon its having received the sauction of a popular vote. This assumption is denied as not being sustained by principles or authority. Sovereign government, Walker says, is inalienable and rests exclusively in the people. This granted, but the report says it does not follow that sovereign power cannot be delegated. The formation of a constitution requires the exercise of sovereign power, but so does the most common act of legislation. If the one can be delegated so can the other. All the constitutions of the old States were made by conventions without ratification, except that of Massachusetts. The constitution of the United States was ratified by State conventions, and never by the popular vote. The amendments to it are to be concurred in by the State Legislature, and not by the popular vote, to give them validity. If not by the popular vote, to give them validity. If Gov. Walker's doctrine is correct we should be with-out State constitutions or law in half the States of the Union.

The objection that an enabling act is necessary is also answered and shown to be untenable both in principle and authority. The question relative to the registry and apportionment is very fully treated. The charges that nineteen counties were disfranchised is completely answered. There are but thirty-four organized counties in Kansas. Twenty-one of the ewere represented. Nice of the thirteen unrepresented counties have very little population. In seven of them not a vote was cast at the January election against the constitution. In two others of the nine counties less than 100 votes were thrown, and in the four remaining, namely, Franklin, Anderand in the four remaining, namely, Franklin, Anderson, Coff.e, and Breckingidge, there were but 435 In these counties the officers were prevented from and these counties the cincers were prevented from a making a registry. The re-ort also shows from the registry and apportionment, together with the official returns, that at the 4th of January election the five counties of Leavenworth, Atchison, Douglas, Doniphan, and Johnson cast 5,118 votes, which is a majority of the whole vote cast throughout the Territory argust the guarantiant of the state of the counties. ry against the constitution, and yet all the e counties were registered and represented in the convention, having 36 of the 60 delegates of which the convention was composed.

If it be true that the opponents of the constitu-If it be true that the opponents of the constitu-tion were so largely in the majority in these con-ties, so violent in their opposition, why cid they sot elect men to form a constitution more to their liking? They had within four vettes of two-lied of the convenien. Why then did they fail to act at the proper time? Their refusal therefore did not in-validate the just, fair, and legal action of the conven-tion. The re-olution under which the committee was appointed directed them to inquire whether the Lecompton constitution is acceptable and satisthe Lecompton constitution is acceptable and satisfactory to the people. The reply to this is that the only correct test is the hallot box, and such an expression of the popular will as is there given at the proper time and place according to law. By this test the constitution was adopted by an overwhelming majority of those who joined the election. These only can be considered as the bona fide citizens of Kansas. Others who abstained are bona fide residents who went to Kansas for mischief and strife. They are self-acknowledged outlaws, and are not to be considered as constituent elements of the commu-nity or society against which they are in open rebel-

But on the 4th of January, at the election for State officers under the constitution, more than 12,-060 voters in Kansas did go to the polls, and thus showed conclusively that at least four fifths of the voters of that Territory were willing to vote for the election of State officers under the constitution. This thuve that the constitution was not orly acceptable, but that it has been accepted by at least four-fifths of the voters of that Territory, though feur-fifths of the voters of that Territory, though not critically satisfactory to all of them; the committee decline to go into an investigation of the alleged frauds at the January election for State officers, for want of jurisdiction of the House over the subject. They say they can no more investigate frauds relating to the election of State officers in Kansas than in any other State. These matters are to be inquired into his other appropriate legitimate tribunals. If the seat of the member of Congress elected to this flat was be contasted on the ground of alleged frauds, the Nouse would have jurisdiction over that matter, but not as to frauds in the election of Covernor by mentions of the Legislature of Kansas. The restrict conditions port conclude, with a recommendation for the admission of the Bure of Kansas in pursuance of the intesion of the Besident, believing that the welfare and prosperity of the people of Kansas as well as the general welfare, peace, and harmony of the whole Union will thereby be promoted.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE IN NORTH CAROLINA. On the night of the 231 ult., a fire occurred at Newbern, N. C., des'roying five buildings, two of which belonged to the estate of Captain Outten, and another occupied by Mr. Thomas J. Marshall. The latter gentleman was awakened and found himself nearly suffocated by smoke, and the lower portion of the building in flames. He instantly jumped out of the upper story window and endeavored to procure a ladder to rescue his family, but was unable to find one at the moment. The Union says:

Despriring of saving them in this way, and being almost frantic, he returned to his house, which was then almost entirely in flames, and shouted to his wife to throw the children to him from the window wife "turow the children to him from the window and then 55 mp ent herself; but, as the words were uttered, he heard her screams below stairs. Another effort was now made to save the other children, but, alas! too late! The ladder was quickly ascended by the frantic father, who attempted to effect an entrance, but, when the windows were opened, nothing but a complete mass of fire and smoke met his agonizing gaze, entirely precinding the possibility of his entering the room or of his children being alive. It was then that hope for sook the bosoms of the unfortunate parents, and they realized the terrible and heartrending fact that their children had perished. They were both boys, one in his fifth and the other in his third year. The other child subsequently died from the effects of the fire. ITEMS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 9.

Dispatches were to day received at the Navy De-partment from Commedore Armstrong, commanding the East India squadron, dated Dec. 28. Captain Simms, who was sent some time since to the Island of Formosa to inquire into the fite of the crew of the ship Highflyer and of other vessels supposed to be wie ked on that Island, had reached Shenghae, and reported that no information could be obtained of white persons being held in captivity by either the Chinese or native inhabitants of the Island.

The Euglish and French fleets had moved up the river off Canton, and had established their head-quarters on the Island of Hanan, opposite. The French fleet having left Macao, and fears being entetained of a revolt, the Americans residing there had asked that a United States vessel of war might be sent there for their protection and refuge. Com-modore Armstrong had sent the sloop-of-war l'orts-mouth to their relief.

Advices from Commissioner Reed are of a most encouraging nature. He hopes to conclude his mission by the autumn of this year, and return to the United States.

The President has appointed the following cadets at large for West Point: George McKee, Samuel M. Mansfield, Singleton Van Buren, William B. Betts, Chas. R. Suter, Win. Bartlett, Roland S. Mackenzie, and John R. Blocker.

PREACHING ADVERTISEMENTS .- One of our exchanges has the following admirable hit at the style of advertising sermons, becoming so common of late in our cities and large towns:

in our cities and large towns:

Suppose a godly man was to advertise that he should preach, next Subbath morning, "on the Necessity of Regeneration," In the afternoon, "on Gileving the Holy Spirit;" and in the evening, "on Faith in Christ," The community would laugh at his simplicity, and stay at home. But if it should be noticed that Rev. Mr. R, or R v. Itz. R, would preach "on War in Heaven, and The part that Yrung Men and Young Women were to take in it," or, "on Paul, the Christian Gentleman," or, "a Parallel between the Dancing of David before the Ark, and the Dancing of Herod david her Christian Gentleman," or, "a Parallel between the Dancing of David before the Ark, and the Dancing of Herod substanting the Christian of Gaillee," there would be a rush to hear this new Gospel Now what must be the state of a minister's heart who craves such notorlety? and what must be the result to himself and his hearers of gratifying it?

Whenever we see these clap-trap advertisements,

Whenever we see these clap-trap advertisements. whenever we see these chap-trap accvertisements, in the Saturday morning secular papers, we set it down as an evidence that the preacher, whoever he may be who permits them to be made, is hard run for hearers, and that he is making an effort to secure them in a method which even if it succeeds temporarily in securing him an audierce will eventually react in such a way as to leave him without an audience at all —Presbyterium Herald.

DEVOURING DROWNED MULES —A correspondent, who is connected with Lieut. Beale's camel expedition, gives the following incident concerning the fording of the Colorado river: "We were not so fortunate with our mules; worn out with incessant latunate with our nules; worn out with incessant labor, and weakened by want of fool, some of them were unable to resist the rapid current, and were swept down and drowned. Then commenced a sickening scene. Scarcely had the breath left their bodies when they were dragged out of the water by the Indians and torn limb from limb, to gratify their savage appetite; throwing huge pieces of the recking flesh on the fires which they had hastily kindled, they suffered them to burn for a few moments, and then, no longer able to refrain from their horrid feast, they tore it with their teeth like hungry dogs, while their faces and hands were beameared with gore. It was a sickening sight."

(From the Kenton (Chio) Republican of March 5] range township has recently been made the favor Gorange township has recently been made the favor ed locality of our of these remarkable visitations which the people have lear and to regard as very 'few and far between' —an angel's visit. Sometime in August last, a bright and intelligent little girl, aged nive years, the daughter of Mr. Charles, who resides in the locality described, while playing near the well in the yard, about noon of the day, seemed to discern something high up in the air, and descending toward her. The attention of the child was so much drawn to the object that her goze became riveted upon it, and as it diew nearer she was observed to make frequent attempts to reach it with her hands, and form a closer acquaintance with the

her hands, and form a closer acquaintauce with the trange visitant.

When the mother of the child was called to the scene, the little girl informed her that she was in the presence of an angel; that she had talked with it; that it had made communications to her; and furthermore gave a description of it according in every particular with the generally received impression of the appearance of these messengers from acove. To satisfy herself that there could be no delucion in the matter, the mother entered into conversation with the stran-ger, and after being satisfied with the reality of the interview-after having seen and talked with the angel face to face—ind after receiving information from it of the precise time when her own death won doccur—she retired from the spot, taking her little girl with her, and the angel, waving its bright winge, returned heavenward. When the mother and the child were alone, they talked freely of what they had seen and heard and the mother's widwings, returned heavenward. When the mother and the child were alore, they talked freely of what they had seen and heard, and the mother's saitness was made deeper by the ar-less story of the child, who said that "he' angel told her she would die just two mooths from the time when she first saw it, precisely at 12 o'clock and twenty-tive minutes; that she would be unlike that of others: that her death would be nnlike that of others: that her friends would suppose her to be in a trance; that her eyes would not be closed; that her funeral would be preached in three weeks after in the new school house of the neighborhood, by a man, whom, together with his horse and buggy, she described, and that her friends would have difficulty in promring the house for the occasion."

The nother kept the sail see et to her elf, and waited for the appointed time, ho, ing that all neight yet go well with her and hers, and not caring to be reckound as one who would attempt to revive the defunct doctrine of spiritualism. But with the time came the terrible blow! Three days before the time remains the terrible blow! Her eyes remained open after death, and could not be closed. Friends, supposing her to be entranced, made many and vain efforts to restore her to l.fe. A few days after her burial, as Rev. 11. P. Darst was passing that way, a friend of Mrs. Charles called to him, and requested him to tarry awhile and preach the little girl's funeral sermon. The bereaved mother intended that the knowledge of these prophecies and their inhillments should go out of time with her, but recently, the secreay bearing more crushingly upon her, she determined to reveal the whole matter, and, in accordance with this determination, one day last week she sent for John Latimore, Esq. and Samuel Wood, one of our county commissioners, and to them gave the particulars, the most prominent of which we have given. The gentlemen named an among the oldest, most respectable, and influential citizens of our county, and their known character for integrity is suffi-cient guaranty that they would not favor a wrong action, or in any way assist in giving publicity to a story, as to the buth of which they had a reasonable doubt These centlemen, we understand, have taken down the facts, as Mr. Charles related them, for the purpose of giving them to the public in pamphlet form. After a session of fifteen weeks, the Legislature of Texas has adjourned. The bill establishing a State University on the school lands in Falls and McLennan counties will be hailed as an omen of better times by all the lovers of art, liverature, and science. And if the great scheme of a free university be carried out in the mode and spirit contemplated, it will be but a few years ere Texas will be in this regard, as well as in respect of area and plated, it will be but a few years ere Texas will be in this regard, as well as in respect of area and growth, the Empire State of the South. Thirty-six new counties were erected, chiefly along the head waters of the Colorado and Brazos, and along the Big Wichita and Red rivers. These, in addition to the one hundred and sixteen old counties, make a sum total of one hundred and fifty-two counties, because the sum total of one hundred and fifty-two counties, because the sum total of one hundred and fifty-two counties, because the sum of the sum o

Some idea of the growth of the State may be formed from the report of the Land Commissioner, where it appears that, during the last five years, no less than 6,650,000 acres, or more than 10,000 square miles, of the public domain have been appropriated. by patent and otherwise. And "still there is a coun," for there are more than one hundred millions of acres of public domain in Taxas yet unappropriated. public domain in Texas yet unappropriated.

Eclipse of the Sun.—We have made, with great care, the following calculations, for Bultimore, of the eclipse of the sun that will occur on the morr-ing of Monday next, the 15th inst. The sun will ing of Monday next, the 15th inst. The sun will rise at 6 h. 16 minutes, mean time, with its southeastern limb covered by the moon, extending to forty-seven hundredths of the sun's diameter. The moon will pass over in a northeastern direction, and its last point of contact will occur on the due east limb of the sun, at 7 h. 15 minutes 0 sec. mean time, fifty nine minutes after the sun rises. The apparent diameter of the sun will be one-eightleth greater than that of the moon. The eclipse will be visible in Europe, in the northwestern part of Africa, eastern part of the United States, and in the northern part of South Auerica.

The first instance of the prediction of an eclipse of the sun upon record is found in Herodotus (Book I, 74), where it is stated that, while the Lydians were engaged in battle with the Medes, "the day became night," which put an end to the engagement. The father of nistory then remarks that Thales of Milester who thoughed about 600 years before Christ tus, who flourished about 600 years before Christ, predicted this eclipse of the sun to the Ionians, and that he fixed upon that year for its occurrence. This was very indefinite. At the end of a cycle of about 18 years and 10 days, the moon occupies nearly the same position on the ecliptic with reference to the sun as she does at the beginning of it, and consequently eclipses occur in nearly the same order in each cycle, though they are not always of the same magnitude. This period called "Saros" was known to the ancient Chaldeans, from whom the Greeks doubtless borrowed it, and thus were enabled in an indefinite manner to medicit eclipses. It was absorbed indefinite manner to predict eclipses. It was absolurely impossible for the ancients to predict them with the accuracy of modern astronomers. Their knowledge of the moon's motion and their mathematics were too scant.

Even in the time of Newton, the moon's position could not be calculated from the tables within seven minutes of space, which would give an uncertainty of about fourteen minutes in the determination of an

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Hollann Pr. fessor, Boerhave. Decause of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for these of our fatheriand scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeling with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persous whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in isoeffect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raking up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many limitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. | From this morning's Journal.] XXXVTH CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION. Thursday's Proceedings Concluded.

WASHINGTON, March 11. Senate.—Mr. Polk then proceeded to explain away the alleged election frauds and informalnies, denying the statements of Walker, Statton, and others that a majority of voters had been distranchised or that Missonrians had invaded the polls of Kansas, There was no necessity, he contended, for suco a course, as enough pro-slavery men were already in the Territory to control the polls. As to armed invasions from Missouri, he thought Senators who reiterated the stories cenceraing them were practising on the credulity of the country. The Missouri are on the credulity of the country. Toat Missouri emigrants should have gone to Kansas armed may have seemed strange and alarming to emigrants from the poorhouses and tombs of eastern cities, but to people acquainted with frontier life it was nothing unusual Missouri emigrants did not use riff; they merely staked their claims and vovel p accasing, returning to Missouri merely to e cape it e severity of winter, intending to return in the spring for permanent residence. Northern immigrants on the contrary, the sweeping of eastern cities, came to vote and remained to vote and for no other purpose. Seeing this invasion, no wonder Missourians returned to their homes marked out in Kansas to protect

Mr. Polk then stated the grounds of his opinion why the Lecompton constitution should pass, restating mainly the arguments of Stevens's majority report. He concluded by asserting that all the inhabitants of Kansas are not turbulent disorganizers. There were solid men, anxious for peace and quiet. The course to give that peace was the passage of the ecompton constitution.

Mr. Berjimin commenced by saving that as a member of the Judiciary committee he felt it was his duty to defend the Judges of the land against aspersions thrown upon them with recklessness and untruthfulness that will yet bring shame upon their accusers. Previous to touching upon that point, however, he would show that it was a vital error to suppose slavery was established by positive busidess. suppose slavery was established by positive legisla-tion in the South. Slavery, he contended, was the creature of the common law of England, in which country it existed, and was protected by both common and statute law, as far back as the days of Elizabeth, who herself dealt in slaves. Our ances-ters brought the laws and institutions of England to this continent as their birthright, and hence slavery was sanctioned by the common law of the thirteen original colonies. He here cited various bistorical data, tracing the history of slavery on both continents down to the American Revolution, at which time it was the common law of the whole Western continent. This slavery he contended was forced continent. This slavery, he contended, was forced as common law upon the thirteen original colonies against the urgent remonstrance of the Southern portion, and had not Northern States abolished it by positive legislation they would be slave States yet How, then, he asked, can it be a serted that slavery is not recognized by the constitution of the United

He then proceeded to a defence of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, con roverting in length Court in the Dred Scott case, con roverting at length the assertions of the Senators from Maine and Vermont that the constitution of the United States does not record zero perty in slaves. He said he never heard that assertion before the Senator from Maine utlered it. He here introduced several forcible illustrations, referring to the patent, copy-right, and other laws, and also cited the case of Frigg vs The State of Delaware, reading Judge McLean's opinion in that case deciding that the rights of the South in slaves as property are guarantied by the constitution. He dwelt at great length on the Dred Scott case, commenting severely on the judges who published the minority report. He now approached, he said, with extreme pain another point. He had been accustomed to reverence the judges of the land as men who by eminence and spoiless purity of character stood high above the breath of suspicion. A long line of judges had culminated in a Marshall of illustrious memory. The man who has succeeded him, it is enough to say, is worthy to be the successor of the target and several of the target and strong that the revended a leaving that trious memory. The man who has succeeded him, it is enough to say, is worthy to be the successor of that great man. He then passed a glowing enlegium upon Judge Tanev, and yet this man, be continued, so pure and nobly, so beloved, has been compared by the Senator from Maine with Jeffries, and by the Senator from New York with having acted in corrupt colusion, with the Chief Marietzette of the corrup collusion with the Chief Magistrate of the United States. It was difficult to sir and listen to such insinuations without our blood boiling within

Mr. B. read from Barron's decuments showing Dred Scott case was in the Missouri courtefore Mr. Buchanan went to England-before the Kansas. Nebraska act was introdu ed—hence it was impossible, as Mr. Seward intimates, that the Chief Justice and the I're-ident could have gamblee at Sustice and the Frestein could have gambles as cards, with Dred Scott playing dumny. Is the Senate of the United States, he asked, to be insulted with language like this? Shame on the Senator who makes charges like these without a shadow of support. He concluded with a few remarks touching the Kansas question, ridiculing the Topeka constitution denouncing its authors as wiscorble relationship. stitution, denougging its authors as a miserable rabble of insurgents, who, having insisted on Topeka or nothing, would get nothing; but Kansas, he assured them, would be kept bleeding through another Presidential campaign.

The Senate passed the House printing deficiency

When it adjourned.

House .- Mr. Harris, of Ill., rose to a question privilege, saying he and six others, members of the House Kansas Committee, felt it due to themselves to present facts showing the failure of the committee to execute the orders of the House.

Mr. Letcher asked if it was a privileged question.

The Speaker thought not.

Mr. Harris appealed from the decision. Mr. Stevens inoved to lay the appeal on the table.

Refused—97 against 112. Humphrey Marshall moved a postponement until

Mr. Stevens had no objection provided a majority report be then made.

Mr. Harris had no objection to embody that report in the journal and minutes of that committee which he intended to present. He found that report published in the Union to-day. He thought it singular that it should thus be spread before the country in contravention of parliamentary law and the rules of the House, but was not willing that the report should be made as the report of the committee, as he with six others members of the committee.

as he, with six others, members of the committee, are made to declare that the committee has discharged its duties under the terms of the resolution appointing them.

After some further discussion upon this point, Mr.
Marshall's motion was agreed to.

The Committee of the While briefly debated the diplomatic appropriation bill to be reported to the House with a recommendation that it pass. The deficiency appropriation bill was next taken up, Mr. Case making an anti Lecompton speech.

Mr. Boyce discussed our policy with regard to the Mormon question; thought the practicable object to be sought is the preservation of communication with the Pacific. There are two modes of settling this question—peaceably and by war. The former is the most humane and economical, therefore best. The latter would conduce to such a state of affairs as would make a hell for a thousand years of the passes of the Pacific. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, March 11. The anti-Lecomptonites are in fine spirits this eve-

Hair, of Mo., Davis, Harris, and Ricaud, of Md, Gilmer, of N. C., and Marshall, of Ky., were the only members of slaveholding States who voted with the majority of fitten—adverse to the Speaker's decision against Mr. Harris's question of privilege. These members, with the exception of Mr. Blair, represent the American party. The Lecomptonites claim that on the previous vo'e, by which the call of the House was refused by 9 majority, 21 of their friends and only 5 anti-Lecomptonites were absent.

AFFAIRS IN WASHINGTON. [Special Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.]

WASHINGTON, March 9, 1858. Famishing P. triots—District Appointments—Mext co and Central America—Cuba, etc.

Never before at this season of the year have there heen so many strangers in the city as now. The hotels and private boarding houses are overflowing with them. It is calculated that not less than fifty with them. It is calculated that not less still may prominent politicians from Pennsylvania are included in the number. Some of the delegates from the Convention recently held in that State, to give the President "aid and comfort" in the Kansas movement, are on haid, if not for "treason," for "stratagem and spoils" Among so many aspirants and ment, are on hind, if not for treason, for stratagem and spoils." Among so many aspirants and greedy patriots, President Buchanan must be in an uneasy attitude. Besides, armies of self-sacrificing adherents to "Lecompton" are here from nearly sll the States. The offices will doubtless be promised and dispensed for the best advantage of the Admir i tration.

A little incident in relation to appointments may not be here out of place. Mr. Hoover, the just re-tired Marshal for the District of Columbia, was ar thred Marshal for the District of Columbia, was an appointee of Gen. Pierce; and out of gravitude to his patron, Mr. Hoover went to the Cincinnati Convention to electioneer for his renomination. Old Buck was aware of this, so he made up his mind that Hoover should vacate the Marshalship. He concluded to appoint in his place, Walter Lenox, an ex-Mayor of Washington, and an ex-Whig. There were a least half a dozen aspirarts, including the prevent Mayor of Washington, also an ex-Whig. But before the nomination of Mr. Lenox could seach the Senate, some busy-hodies went to the Presithe Senate, some basy-hodies went to the l'resident, and made such representations that he changed his mind. Then it was the older candidates for the Marshalship stirred up their friends, and the Executive was again beset with advice in relation to that office. The result of the disinterested "intervention" has not yet transpired. It would seem proper, according to the present test of the Demo-cratic party, that the President should be "left perfree to manage his affairs in his own subject only to the Constitution of the United

The city postmastership was lately hestowed on Dr. Wni. Jones, who was originally a Jackson Democrat, afterward a Whig, and now a supporter of the Administration. Col. Berrett, an able officer although a strong and continuous Democrat, had the misfortune, like Mr. Hoover, to go to Cincinnati to engineer for the re-nomination of President Pierce. It is well known that very many appointments were made during the recess of Congress. But as the Kansas test has since been introduced, the appointers shaking in their though have come to Washpointees, shaking in their shoes, have come to Washpointees, snaking in their snoes, have come to washington to convince the powers charged with the bestowal of p tronage that they are "all right" and "sound" on this question. Some few have gone home with their "heads off."

While there is much "noise and confusion" in the legislative halls concerning the question of Kansas and the darkies, the Administration, it is understood, has had under consideration the critical condition of Mexico, the Central American States, and Cuba. The country is not prepared, at present, to acquire all these countries at once, but it is evident that preparations are being made for a big slice at the most convenient season. The difficulty is, what shall be done in the present condition of affairs, and how far will Congress go to second the schemes of the Administration. Kansas lost to the South, someluing must be done with a view of adding mo solute territory in other quarters. Cuba, therefore, is the grand panacea, and the Administration cherishes this as a favorite measure.

SIDNEY.

OBITUARY. Died, on the 7th of March, 1858, Mrs. Ellen D. MAY-IELD, aged Iwenty-seven years, wife of the late Dr. Thos.

rieth, aged iwenty-seven years, wife of the late Dr. Thos. May field.

She had nobly filled the porition of daughter, wife, mother, and christian. She is now enjoying the luestimable reward of the righteons. Sweet consolation to those who loved her while living and mourn her less. Her absence leaves a vacuum that cannot easily be filled. To her children, to her relatives and friends she was ever just and considerate; tolerant of finite, but ever assiduous in endeavoring to rectify them. Mild and even in disposition, but firm in discharging every duty conscientiously. She was not perfect, but h r love, consideration, and kindness elevated her to a position among her friends gr. atly to be envised by all those who desire the love and respect of man. Her sufferings were too intense to be described, yet she with a truly christian fortitude suppressed every emotion possific that she night not enhance the anxiety or too great sympathy of her albedants. Could they attention, or prayer averted the mandate of the Most High, she world how be with now de with now be the watchful guardian of her muchoved children. How bright is her example, every duty fulfilled, her labor is over. She caimly resigns herself to Ged, her regrets leaving her children and frionds, but does not fear to meet the G-ext Judge of the Universe. To-day she is with the blessed and will no more be subject to pain or trouble.

It is entirely of window, showing the exact time. It is entirely of the World's Fair lu Paris in competition with the best London and French Chronometers, and also at the World's Fair in New York, and in every instance has received the hichest promium for unequalled workmanship and correct time-keeping.

To our watch department we have secured the services of Mr. Ed. Helwig, of New York. Mr. H. can execute any kind of watch-work fully equal to Jurgensen, Frodsham, Adams, or any of the first London or Swiss makers.

In many fine Watches that are broken, parts are substituted greatly inferior to the original, the customer paying the full price for a perfect piece of work. The Watch apparently performs well atterward for a while, but is more injectfect and less valuable than originally.
